Everybody's raving about dance party

Octopuses, mermaids and pirates were among the 250-strong crowd enjoying a new family rave event in Leicester at the weekend.

The Under and Over the Sea-themed dance party was organised by award-winning Big Fish Little Fish, which has been regularly running events in London since 2013.

Held at The Y Theatre, the sell-out event saw parents and children – in their best fancy dress outfits – raving on the multi-sensory dance floor.

COSTUMES

The experience included glitter cannons, bubbles and a giant parachute dance, as well as the opportunity to play in tents and tunnels, make jellyfish and colour in a pirate mural.

Organiser and 24-hour party person Verena Scrimshire said: "Thanks to all those lovely Leicester families who came and partied with us at our launch.

"The dancing, costumes and smiley faces were brilliant to see. We all had a blast and can't wait to see you again soon. Rave on!"

Such was the success of the Leicester event, another date is set to be announced soon.

The UK Government has introduced plain packaging for tobacco products. Packs must be compliant by May 2017, but some changes have already started which include:

- No packaging designs
- Standardised colour
- Increased health warnings

Smaller packs will also be banned, therefore tobacco products must contain:

- Minimum 20 cigarettes per pack
- Minimum 30g rolling tobacco per pouch
